“ Mawmaw Adell was the best grandmother in the world. She would let me stay with her as a child. And when I got married and had children she would have me over when my husband went deer hunting. Once I remember, I was staying with her during Thanksgiving and she was cooking, and I was taking care of my 3 month old son, I turned away for a moment and she told me to look at them and my daughter was picking my son's nose. We were laughing at them and my daughter said that he had a booger in his nose that he could not get so she picked it for him lol 😂 Another time she had to take me and my son to the hospital. He was crying and I couldn't drive. He had a hernia and he had to have surgery. I thank God that she was able to get us to the hospital. I didn't have any other person that I could call. She was also the best great grandmother in the world. She was always there for me. I love you more grandmother
